

Program:

CareerExplorationSeries™

Preparing tomorrow's workforce today

Purpose:

The Career Exploration Series™ is a career development program of Career Connect USA, a workforce initiative under the aegis of KSG Strategic Consulting, specifically designed for middle and high school students. Known affectionately as Career Day on Steroids™, the program focuses on the short and long-term actions related to youth career preparation. Students will interact with industry leaders and practitioners in the fields the students have indicated interest in on the survey CCUSA issues to participating youth prior to the program.

This national program launches in Philadelphia, PA at St. Martin de Porres Catholic School on Friday, May 2, 2014.

Opening/Closing Plenary Sessions: Age-appropriate insight and best practices from corporate and community organization leaders, entrepreneurs, government agencies, and educational institutions on planning for a productive career.

Highlights:

SWITCH! Activity: An interactive learning session facilitated by professionals, military officers, law enforcement, entrepreneurs, educators, and other career fields.

Career Development Action Plan and Implementation Guide: A resource that students can use to track progress, including a resume template, interview checklist, internship websites, and an Action Plan in which students can plug in their own goals, identify collaborators (ex. mentors, guidance counselors), and numerous helpful tips for parents and guardians. The guide is designed to assist in students' career planning through high school or college.
